Slash Into Southern Germany 'National Redoubt'—Only 78 Miles From Hideout

PATTON'S FORCES CROSS DANUBE

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, April 26.—United States troops, slashing into Germany's southern national redoubt area where Nazi forces appeared on the verge of disintegration, lunged forward to within at least 78 miles of Hitler's bomb-shattered mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden today.

Armored forces of Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, scoring a fresh advance of six miles in the direction of the Austrian border, to within only 11 miles of the frontier, spearheaded the drive toward Berchtesgaden.

Stream Across Danube
Sweeping across the Danube river barrier forming the northern defenses of the Redoubt, Gen. Patton's forces crossed the historic waterway at three points along an 18-mile front.

Crossings of the Danube were made in the early hours of this morning by troops in assault boats. Only minor opposition was encountered.

Units of the 65th Division went over at 2 a. m. and troops of the 71st Division started across at 4 a. m.

At supreme headquarters, where it was indicated that the Germans probably will be unable to block the determined American spokesman said that the onslaught was progressing steadily.

Nearing Augsburg
The United States seventh army under Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch pushed to within 10 miles of Augsburg but met with increasing enemy resistance.

To the north, British second army forces cleaned out half of Bremen in savage house-to-house fighting. Coincident with the steady drive toward the redoubt, fighter-bombers of the U. S. ninth air force attacked rail and road traffic from Pilsen, site of the Skoda armament works, to Salzburg on the Austrian border.

These American planes also destroyed 43 and damaged 16 enemy aircraft on an airfield east of Munich and cooperated with third army ground units in the Danube valley area.

Patton's forces closed up toward Berchtesgaden.

PA NEWC Observes

Dandelions appear to be an abundant crop around the city and county districts at the present time. Thousands of them are to be seen in the fields.

There is considerable bicycle riding on the streets of the city by young children that carries a menace to both the children and motorists. The bicycle riders seem to be most uncertain as to where they intend to ride in the street, weaving all over the thoroughfares.

It is to be hoped that when the resurfacing of downtown Washington street is completed this summer, that it is not followed by any winter such as that recently experienced. The past winter ruined the surface on most of the streets that had been resurfaced within a year or two.

Troops of the U. S. Third Army were reported to have entered Regensburg, on the Danube, and to have driven 15 miles beyond. A German broadcast reported American forces 35 miles from Munich and 17 miles from Berchtesgaden.

United Nations Conference Now Well Launched

Delegations From 46 Nations Ready To Tackle Issues In World Security Plan

FORMAL SPEECHES SCHEDULED TODAY

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—The United Nations conference for a new world security organization moved solemnly toward its first business session today under a plea from President Truman to give suffering humanity a "better world" with enduring peace.

There were bright prospects that the "Big Four" would lead the 46 delegations to early solutions of the controversial trusteeship, Polish and Argentine issues.

Chairmen of the 46 delegations were called to session at 10:30 a. m. (PWT) in advance of the first business session at 3:30 p. m. (PWT). The meeting of chairmen was turned over to business questions, such as the nomination of national members to various conference commissions.

Formal Addresses Coming
The first formal addresses of the conference from other than United States representatives were to be heard at this afternoon's plenary session. At this session heads of various delegations, led by those of the sponsoring powers, including Anthony Eden for Great Britain, and V. M. Molotov for Russia, make their initial conference addresses.

The conference was launched late yesterday with colorful ceremonies at the War Memorial Opera House, President Truman called the WASHINGTON, April 26.—Breaking of Germany's military power "with a flat finality" constitutes a direct warning to Japan of what that nation faces, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson declared today.

Reviewing the world military situation, Stimson said that the entry of Russian troops into Berlin, the imminent U. S.-Soviet junction together with drives toward the German north coast and the Bavarian Alps had "torn and broken Germany's military might with a flat finality."

Stimson said that now the battles of the pockets will get underway. The main actions will center around the Berlin corridor, the North Sea

Bomber With Crew Of 13 Is Being Hunted

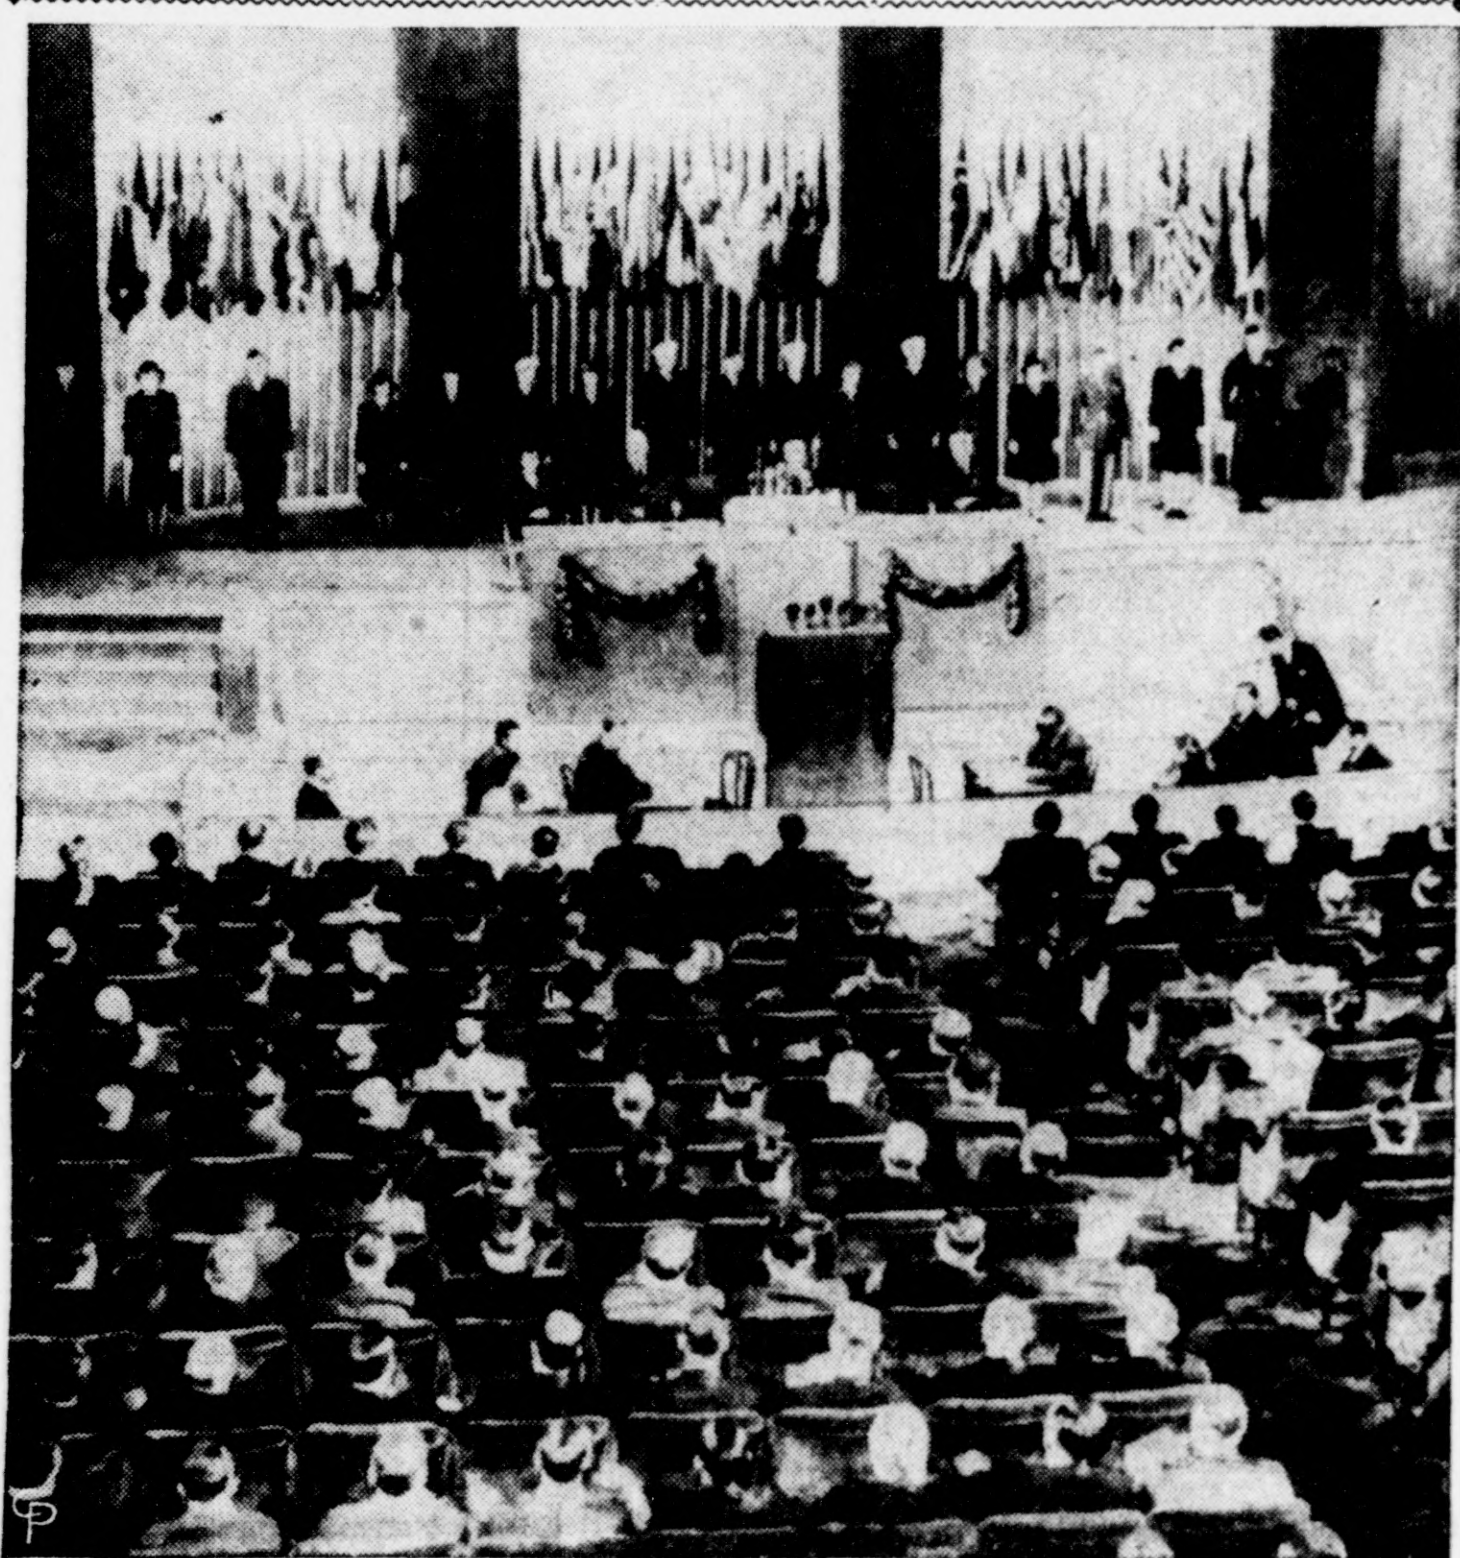

TAMPA, Fla., April 26.—(INS)—A search was pressed today for a B-29 bomber and its crew of 13, reported missing by army officials at MacDill Field, Tampa.

The huge bomber was believed lost between 8:30 a. m. and noon Tuesday while on a 3,000-mile cross-country combat training flight.

Joining in the search for the missing bomber were flying fortresses based in peninsular Florida and Cuba and navy ground planes and flying boats. All efforts to contact the plane were unavailing.

Among those aboard the bomber was Sgt. Louis T. Kapusta, Youngstown, Ohio.

United Nations Delegates Hear President Truman

This general view of the interior of the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House at the opening session of the United Nations conference for world security shows the delegates listening to the address of President Harry S. Truman, who spoke to the group by radio from the White House. In the center of the speakers' dais at the front of the immense auditorium is Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., who introduced the U. S. chief executive. Gov. Earl Warren of California is shown on Stettinius' right, while Mayor Rogers D. Lapham of San Francisco is shown on the secretary's left. Both the governor and mayor gave welcome addresses following Truman's speech. Flags of the 46 United Nations across the back of the stage are fronted by a guard of U. S. service men and women.

Gen. Patton's Forces To Lift Secrecy Veil From Hitler's Redoubt

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

With Gen. George S. Patton's armored columns lunging into the vital midriff of Nazi Germany, it won't be long now before we know the truth about the much advertised German "redoubt" of suicide, last-ditch defense.

Seldom has such a legend been built up in modern times. Since early January, when this column first called attention in this country to the "redoubt," millions of words concerning it have been written.

It has been described as occupying mountainous parts of Czechoslovakia, Germany, Yugoslavia and Italy. According to published accounts, war industries have been built up by careful German planners in remote districts in the high Alps. Vast stores of food and military supplies are chronicled as having been transported to these inaccessible regions, together with millions of men.

Nobody Knows Facts
What the truth is nobody knows, outside the German high command and the Upper Hierarchy of the Nazi party. The whole legend may be a pipe dream—or it may be the sternest kind of reality. Hitler, in Mein Kampf, said "when you tell a

Some Ration Point Changes Coming

Margarine Points To Be Increased Four For Period Beginning April 29; Other Increases

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles announced today that lamb and veal cuts will be increased one to two points, group I cheese two points and margarine four points for the ration period beginning April 29 and ending June 2.

Bowles also disclosed that most beef steaks will be increased one point, while utility grade veal and lamb will have the same point values as higher grades. Beef roasts and cuts will be reduced one to two points.

Hamburger, butter, lard, shortenings, cooking and salad oil values remain unchanged.

With the exception of about five million points of mutton, Bowles said, all meats will have point values.

Bowles explained that the new ration values result from the recently announced control program to increase the amount of federally-inspected meat. The higher points, he said, are designed to insure more equitable distribution of available supplies.

Allies Driving Toward Verona, Brenner Pass

Little Opposition Given In Italy By Hurriedly Retreating German Forces

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, April 26.—The American Fifth Army raced today to within less than 20 miles of Verona, key junction of the Nazi escape routes from Italy. There was only token opposition from the hurriedly retreating Germans.

The Americans swept beyond Mantua, seven miles north of the Po, and 21 miles from Verona, while the British Eighth Army, also expanding its offensive north of the Po, drove toward the approaches of the Brenner Pass.

Yank forces swept up the highway toward Milan and drove the half-hearted Nazi garrison out of Reggio. Parma also fell into American hands.

Driving beyond the captured naval base at La Spezia, the Americans moved northwest to occupy "Luzia" where they were greeted only with sporadic artillery fire and little ground resistance.

With the capture of Parma the Americans were only some 70 miles southeast of Milan and less than 100 miles from the nearest point on the Swiss frontier.

Prisoners scooped up in the combined American and British advance increased by uncounted thousands. Reports from behind the shattered German lines and reports from reconnaissance pilots disclosed that the Germans were using every type of vehicle available in a mad dash to escape encirclement in northern Italy.

Russian Forces In Virtual Man-Hunt For Hitler In Berlin

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

Russian troops stormed through the heart of Berlin today, almost to within hand grenade range of their main objective—Adolf Hitler's chancellery on the Wilhelmstrasse.

With one report placing the Soviets already in the Alexanderplatz, one of Berlin's busiest squares just east of the government building area, the Russians launched upon a virtual man-hunt in the midst of history's bloodiest streets battles.

The few Nazi propaganda broadcasting stations still in operation insisted that Hitler still be in the doomed capital directing fanatical and futile defense by immature or overage troops.

If this is true, the Russians are determined to find him, hopeful that some shell-gutted building eventually may disgorge a frightened madman with a moustache.

All Escape Cut Off
Official Soviet communiques confirm that Berlin is encircled and all potential routes of supply or escape are cut off. The great Tempelhof airfield in south Berlin is in Russian hands and subsidiary airports are being captured steadily, cutting down the possibilities of a Hitler getaway if he actually is in the capital.

It may be significant that the Soviets planned their seizure of Berlin to ensure that the hard core of the Wilhelmstrasse was safely pocketed on all sides before any direct attack was made against it.

The Russians cleaned up the eastern areas first taking over huge

Yanks Driving Into Jap Lines On Okinawa

Report 21,668 Japs Slain Or Captured In Battle So Far—U. S. Casualties Total 7,424

By GEORGE MCWILLIAMS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GUAM, April 26.—American doughboys and marines on Okinawa and surrounding islands were revealed today to have eliminated approximately one-third of the Japanese garrison at a cost to themselves of 7,424 casualties.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who once estimated the Jap garrison of Okinawa as numbering from 60,000 to 80,000 troops, announced that 21,668 enemy soldiers were slain or captured from April 1 to 6 a. m. yesterday, in the Ryukyu islands land operations.

21,269 Japs Killed
These enemy casualties included 21,269 Japs killed and 399 others captured, according to Nimitz' communique, which added:

"A total of 115,279 civilians have come under the jurisdiction of U. S. military government authorities (on Okinawa)."

Announcement of these enemy losses and the U. S. casualties, which included 1,146 soldiers and marines killed, 5,982 wounded, and 296 missing in action, came as doughboys of the 24th Army Corps captured another town and a key height on southern Okinawa.

Score General Advance
The Yanks, scoring a "general advance" of some 1,000 yards deeper into the powerfully-fortified Naha line across the lower portion of the island, drove the Japs from Kakazu town in the center of the front, as well as from east-coast hill No. 178.

This height, overlooking the Yonabaru airfield, fell to the U. S. bayonet-wielding doughboys who pushed to within striking distance also of the villages of Ishin and Ouki. Supporting the Americans, according to the communique, was "heavy" gunfire from warships of the U. S. Pacific fleet as well as "low-level" attacks by carrier-aircraft and marine planes.

Breakdown of the U. S. losses showed that 889 soldiers were slain, 4,879 wounded and 289 listed as missing, with 257 marine killed, 1,103 wounded and seven missing.

Carrier planes of the Pacific fleet again attacked Jap airfields and other installations in the Sakishima group of islands southwest of Okinawa Tuesday.

Prisoners scooped up in the combined American and British advance increased by uncounted thousands. Reports from behind the shattered German lines and reports from reconnaissance pilots disclosed that the Germans were using every type of vehicle available in a mad dash to escape encirclement in northern Italy.

Red Army Troops Are Storming Into Center Of Berlin

Grip Of Russians On Encircled Berlin Is Being Steadily Tightened

SEARCH RUINS FOR TRACE OF HITLER

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 26.—Red army troops stormed directly into the center of Berlin today, scouring every inch of overrun territory inside the Reich capital in the hope that Adolf Hitler might be found.

The entry of the Russian forces into the geographical heart of Berlin was reported in a late front dispatch to the Soviet army newspaper Red Star.

Report Police Battle Reds
German reports said the Berlin police of the Alexanderplatz district were fighting as a unit alongside German troops as the Soviets moved in on the area.

A Nazi broadcast said Soviet tanks and infantry were only a few hundred yards from the Alexanderplatz which is one-half mile from Unter den Linden and contains not only the police station but one of the most notorious police prisons in the German capital.

The German-controlled Oslo radio indicated that the Soviets had reached the center of Berlin's business district.

Russian front dispatches said the Soviets had reached the vicinity of Berlin's southeastern rail terminus at the Goerlitz station.

Bloody battles were reported in progress as the Russians closed in on the vital central regions from the north, east and southeast.

Tighten Grip On Berlin
The Soviet grip on Berlin, completely encircled, was tightened with the passing of each hour, Red Star said.

Advanced spearheads of the victorious Soviet armies rolled more than 24 miles west of the encircled city to capture the town of Ketzin, less than 35 miles from the Elbe river.

Sounds screwy I admit it, but all inventions are, think back before the radio and that's not very far, and then remember what I say about this scrambled vine, a breakfast dish to fit a king, the weather's sixty-nine.

Meat Distribution Practices Are To Be Investigated

Senate Food Subcommittee Sees Inequitable Distribution As Factor In Situation

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Senate food subcommittee prepared to look into packers' meat distribution practices today by calling on Washington wholesalers to reveal week-by-week sales dating back to last October.

The figures were called for by Sen. Ellender (D-La.), who suggested that "maybe these shortages were fostered as part of a drive to break down OPA meat controls."

At the same time, Ellender said he would seek information on whether packers found it more profitable to sell in some areas than others, and thus contributed to maldistribution of meats.

He declared also that it might be desirable to make the values of red points variable by areas—to require more red points to get a pound of meat in a section in which meat is produced.

That, he added, might have an effect of equalizing the meat consumption.

Inequitable Situation
Ellender said residents in the meat-producing areas apparently are able to use up all their red points, while meat shortages in other areas leave persons holding points for which they cannot get meat.

Meanwhile, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) declared that "everybody but the OPA estimates that 70 to 90 per cent of Pittsburgh's meat is black market."

Wheeler, who conducted a hearing in Pittsburgh, told the subcommittee a newspaper man "bought up a ton of meat in black markets" at 10 to 30 per cent over the ceiling prices to demonstrate the extent of the illicit meat trade.

Wheeler joined in the demand for a "food czar" to administer rationing and price fixing and eliminate inter-departmental conflicts.

"There ought to be fewer regulations, they should be simple, and they should be enforced," he declared.

"If that isn't done, they're not going to prevent inflation in any product in which there is a shortage."

"It cannot be denied that there is inflation in meat prices today and that OPA is powerless to prevent it."

NAZI V-2 BOMB ATTACKS AT END ENGLAND TOLD

rather than to indulge in prophesy, but I have recorded such facts with a very considerable air of optimism, which, I trust, will not be brought to mockery by events."

In all, about 1,200 V-2 bombs fell in southern England, reaching their height in February. Totals of from 50 to 60 each week were common in January and March, with such counties as Essex, Kent and Hertfordshire, as well as London itself, getting many.

Killed 167 At Once
The worst incident occurred in the New Cross district of London last November when 167 persons were killed as the result of a direct hit on a five and ten cent store crowded mostly with women and children. The scene later was visited by American Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce.

At another time 133 persons were killed in a tenement in the Stepney district.

The International News Service office on Fleet street rocked beneath the hammer blows of one explosion when, at noon time Saturday early last March, ripped through a Farringdon market nearby, killing 115 persons. Bloodhounds were used to trace victims trapped in the wreckage.

Last Bomb March 27
The last bomb fell in the Orpington area at 4:54 p. m. March 27, killing only one person.

The V-2 never became an accurate offensive weapon, but statistics and photographs now released showed it to be a deadly killer even in its present experimental state and to possess terrifying potentialities for World War III.

Londoners who went through the Nazi blitz and the subsequent V-1 attacks preferred them greatly to the V-2 raids, which came without warning at any hour of the day and night.

The first intimation that a V-2 was in the area was its breath-taking explosion, followed by a long rumbling as the air displaced in its passage caught up with the speed of the projectile.

lie, tell a big one. The story of the "redoubt" may be a lie manufactured out of the whole cloth, or there may really be a "redoubt," of vast defensive strength.

The truth or falsehood of this legend is unquestionably the war's most important riddle of today. It will make a difference of thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands of Allied casualties, and months of time in the calendar of victory day in Europe.

Around Pilsen and Prague are great industrial districts manufacturing munitions. These are walled in by the Sudeten mountains in the north and the Bohemian mountains to the south and west.

Will Soon Know
Gen. Patton's tanks cannot climb these mountains but they are now within less than 100 miles of an important pass through the southern barrier, opening from German Regensburg to Bohemian Pilsen. A few hours drive up that pass will tell them whether the Bohemian portion of the "redoubt" tale is truth or a myth.

Another important area claimed to be included in the outer precincts of the "redoubt" is the Munich district. The Allies should soon know about this also, should they wish to take the city.

Passau and Linz with their ready communications with Salzburg and Berchtesgaden will furnish the final proof as to whether or not a "redoubt" really exists.

coast including Bremen, Hamburg and Denmark and the south German area embracing Munich and the redoubt in the Bavarian and Austrian Alps.

Warning To Pacific Enemy
Other German pockets, the secretary estimated, include 75,000 to 90,000 Nazi troops in the western Holland "fortress," about 100,000 in the small French ports and channels islands, about 30,000 in Crete and other Aegean islands and 150,000 in Norway.

Hamburg radio admitted that the battlefront now runs right through the heart of Berlin.

"Everyone must become a fighter," the announcer admonished, adding: "Everything possible is being done to provide the necessities of life for the Berlin population for whom their cellars have become their homes."

This same Transmitter asserted that Hitler would remain in Berlin until the battle has been brought to a "successful end."

Soviets Pour In
Soviet regiments poured steadily into Berlin, moving up in haste in order to play some part in the final battle to crush the enemy capital.

Long troop columns and tanks trucks and other vehicles, moving in four parallel columns, jammed the principal high ways leading into Berlin.

Northwest of Dresden the racing columns of the Soviet Second Ukrainian army crossed the Elbe and captured Riesa, only 20 miles from the U. S. First Army on the Mulde river at Wurzen.

With the Russians already at the Elbe in Muehlberg and approaching the river west of Berlin, an early link up with the Americans along a wide front loomed.

Nazis Fight Fanatically
Inside Berlin, completely surrounded when the Soviet First Ukrainian and First White Russian armies joined up northwest of Potsdam, the German garrison continued to fight with fanatic fury. More than 6,000 were killed in the last 24 hours of battle which raged through the subways and to the upper floors of the capital's taller buildings.

The first White Russian forces of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov cleared the Berlin districts of Falkensee, Falkenhagen, Lager Doebnitz, Treptow and Britz. Simultaneously Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian forces drove the Nazis from the Lichterfelde and Zehlendorf districts.

Whipping west of Berlin and wheeling north of Potsdam to complete the encirclement of the German capital, Marshal Konev's forces also severed the main highways and railroads from Berlin to Magdeburg and Leipzig.

Trap Is Closed
The strategic advance of the First Ukrainians closed a 16-mile gap in the flaming trap.

Moscow went wild when Marshal Joseph Stalin's announcement that all German retreat channels out of Berlin had been cut.

The news started immediate speculation as to whether Hitler, Hermann Goering and Joseph Goebbels had remained in the capital or had escaped to the so-called National Redoubt in the Bavarian Alps.

In East Prussia the Third White Russian army completed the conquest of the Samland peninsula with the capture of Pillau, the strongly fortified Nazi port and naval base on the North Sea, which was hampered incessantly during the siege by the Red Air force.

Capture Men, Booty
Southwest of Frankfurt on the Oder Marshal Zhukov's forces drove the Germans from Muelrose and Friedland, capturing 3,500 prisoners and seizing 297 aircraft, 110 artillery pieces, 1,130 motor vehicles, 16 locomotives and 1,311 railroad cars.

In the Bautzen area of Saxony east of Dresden, the First Ukrainian army beat back a series of determined Nazi counter-attacks, taking more than 3,000 prisoners. In the area north of Cottbus, 40 more towns and villages were taken from the Germans.

In Czechoslovakia the Soviet Second Ukrainian army cleared the Nazis from 50 localities and fought to the outskirts of Brno, the industrial center famous for the manufacture of small arms, and where Britain's famous Bren gun was invented prior to German occupation.

factories and warehouses as emergency hospitals and supply depots, and then streamed far to the west, by-passing the arsenal and military centers of Spandau and Potsdam.

Overrun These Areas Now
Presumably they now are wheeling back to overrun these areas, consolidated previously won positions north and south of the city, center and then move simultaneously in innumerable columns from the rim of the wheel straight toward the hub.

At the end of their journey they may find nothing but wreckage, rubble and deeply-planted mines that go off at the turn of a doorknob.

But the mere possibility they may find Hitler also spurred the Russians to superhuman efforts. Front-line dispatches indicated that advanced echelons, almost sleepless from the moment Berlin was invaded, are refusing to yield their places to reserve units.

Like the men of Gen. George S. Patton's American third army fighting on Berchtesgaden, every Russian soldier in Berlin is determined to be in at the kill.

JAP RESISANCE IN PHILIPPINES BEING MOPPED UP

Province Is Cleared
"Except for scattered enemy remnants now being mopped up, the entire Province of Ilocos Sur is cleared," MacArthur added triumphantly.

On Mindanao, meantime, a 16-mile advance along Highway One was staged by elements of the 24th Division which likewise was effectively supported from the air. Only "scattered" Jap resistance met the Yanks in their forward drive which carried them into the hills of the southernmost of the Philippine Islands.

Two of Formosa's airdromes—Matsuyama in the north, and Taito on the southeast coast—underwent attacks by heavy bombers which followed on the heels of night harassing assaults. Four Borneo airfields and Jap shipping were also plastered with bombs.

Apple Growers Find OPA Causes Surplus Instead Of Shortage

WASHINGTON, April 26—(INS)—Eastern apple growers took their turn at criticizing OPA before the senate food committee Wednesday. This time the price agency was charged with creating a surplus instead of a shortage.

Applegrowers complained that OPA regulations made it most profitable for retailers to sell western apples—shipped east on the nation's overloaded transportation system—while thousands of eastern apples must be "dumped."

John B. Peters of Gardner, Pa., told the committee that the late January retail ceiling price was four and a half cents a pound for local apples, but 15 cents for the "imported" ones.

Thus, he said, it was more profitable for the retailer to sell the western apples. Likewise, some of the better quality apples from the east were shipped to western regions where a similar price situation existed.

The surplus, according to Peters and Carroll R. Miller of Martinsburg, W. Va., will be virtually a total loss.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Government on condition that she and the children could use it as a home as long as they lived. So it would seem that Mrs. Roosevelt is about as well fixed financially as one could wish. Money would appear about the last thing she wants or needs.

THIS BEING the case, there seems but two likely reasons for her announced purpose to continue her daily column and monthly article. Undoubtedly, one of these is to give her something to do. A woman of vast energy and a wide variety of interests, it is almost inconceivable that after the sort of life she has had for the past twelve years Mrs. Roosevelt should now sit down and fold her hands in idleness, or knit or just read. The other is to provide channels of communication to the people which can be used to promote the causes to which she is devoted and the policies she advocates. Mrs. Roosevelt made this plain at her final White House press conference, when she explained that in writing her column in the past she had been handicapped and restricted by the fact that she was the wife of the President. From now on, she said, "I shall be on my own."

THIS CAN only mean that she intends more freely and forcibly to express her own ideas about politics and public affairs. Unquestionably, her position will be considerably farther left than the left of center position Mr. Roosevelt once described as his own. Some professional "liberals" regard Mrs. Roosevelt as a more pronounced "liberal" than was her husband. Certainly her tendencies are all in that direction. Some have contended that Mrs. Roosevelt's column was possible only because she was the wife of the President; that otherwise no one would have bought it and few would read it. Clearly, Mrs. Roosevelt intends to disprove this. It will be interesting to see if she can do it. For a while she still will derive advantage from the echo of the Roosevelt personality which will be long heard in the country. But, in the course of time, she really will be on her own. Perhaps, ultimately, she can establish herself as a "great liberal leader" and thinker. And, conceivably, she might become a presidential critic. Or, her column may just shrivel and die. Who can tell?

THE PARENT PROBLEM

6. A father with his boy five and daughter 12 called to visit us on their way to Sunday school. The boy romped over his father and pummeled him, sat deliberately on his hat while the sedate sister was bored and humiliated. The father, a staunch "Progressive Educator," offered no restraint of the youngster and didn't seem to sense his annoyance. We felt emotional relief when they departed.

Boy Complimented

7. A boy 13 returning from a dinner party made up chiefly of adults, was complimented warmly by his father on the fine way he conversed with the lady next to him. The boy looked tremendously pleased.

8. A mother with her children about 3 and 5 were bidding her soldier husband good-bye at a railroad station. They didn't shed tears and were most poised though I could see pent-up sorrow on the parents' faces.

9. I had dinner with a father and mother and their boys 12 and 13. I enjoyed the jokes the older boy told exceptionally well. Next morning the younger also told a joke at breakfast he had had a big brother rehearse with him for the occasion. Each meal began with grace which the family sang, all of us joining hands.

10. A daughter returning home from high school chattered seriously and comfortably with me after our first meeting, on her plans for further education. The brother 13 was listening proudly and the parents did not interrupt once. Later the lad told me of his interests and showed me some of the model airplanes he and his father had been working on together. How delightful it was to visit with children who were understood and treated in their home as real persons.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, fluctuating pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or watery passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

the Czech frontier on the northern part of their front and completed occupation of Cheb (Eger) further to the south.

Troops of the 11th armored division pushed to the southeast in two columns. One reached Tittling, 11 miles from Passau on the Austrian frontier.

The 71st and 65th divisions made the Danube crossings to the east and southwest of Regensburg. An unconfirmed radio report said this important city already has been occupied.

Seventh In Drive

The offensive into the redoubt area was pressed also by the U. S. seventh army, closing in on Augsburg, 28 miles from Munich, and the French first army, credited at headquarters with the smashing of the German 19th army which was trapped in the Black forest.

The 19th Nazi army was a reconstituted force made up of new groupings of soldiers after the French previously had mauled the outfit in the battle of the Colmar pocket in Alsace.

German first army forces east of the Black forest appeared unable to cope with the continued onslaught into the redoubt area by allied forces.

Score Breakthrough

The headquarters spokesman pointed out that U. S. third and U. S. seventh army forces have succeeded in securing a clear breakthrough, with absolutely no indication that the Germans will be able to stem the drive.

Last officially reported 14 miles northwest of Augsburg, the U. S. seventh army was said by the Luxembourg radio to be within less than 30 miles of Munich, birthplace of Nazism.

The closest forces of Gen. Patton's army were about 40 miles north of Munich, in the vicinity of Ingolstadt.

Inside Czechoslovakia

Along the northern part of Gen. Patton's front, American troops speared some eight miles inside Czechoslovakia to occupy Cheb (Eger).

The sole announcement concerning the highlanders that Lieut. Gen. William Simpson's men had recently captured a number of German generals, including Maj. Gen. Heinz, Gen. Probe Request For Increase In Prices On Steel

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—A bipartisan subcommittee chosen from the congressional delegations of six steel-producing states was investigating today a request by the producers for OPA action to raise ceiling prices on steel.

The Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Maryland and West Virginia delegations met with representatives of small steel firms to hear complaints that present ceilings were forcing them to operate at a loss and to discuss methods of improving the situation.

Lawson Stone, representing the Follansbee Co. of Pittsburgh and Robert W. Wolcott of Lukens Steel, Coatesville, Pa., presented the case for the producers.

"The wage increase over a year ago was never followed by a price increase to cover higher costs," Stone said.

"Any action we get out of OPA now will be too little and too late, but we are attempting to put before congress information on the situation in which we find ourselves in the hope of securing an adequate and prompt increase."

Wolcott observed that while it might be possible for the large steel firms to absorb the higher units costs created by wage increases, the smaller companies were being squeezed to the wall between increased costs and rigid price ceilings.

Rep. McConnell, Republican member of the subcommittee from Pennsylvania, said his job was to inquire into the inequities of the situation and find the best methods of correcting them.

Local Man's Outfit Forms Organization For Civilian Life

(Special to The News)
SIXTH ARMY GROUP, Germany—Pfc. William A. Barra, 1601 Hanna street, is one of the men of the 439th anti-aircraft automatic weapons battalion who are guarding fighter fields in support of General Devers' 8th Army Group, and who are forming the "439th Association" in order to carry over into civilian life the friendship formed in the Army.

April 29 will mark the second anniversary of this outfit's coming overseas. It has served in Africa, Italy, and France, acting at times as both anti-aircraft and infantry. One of the stories which they like best about their outfit is the one about the two Luftwaffe pilots who got tired of it all and landed their JU-88 on an American field and surrendered to the 439th men there.

President Truman Gives Clear Track To Conference News

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—President Truman probably will not have a news conference this week, White House Secretary Jonathan Daniels disclosed today.

Daniels said the President does not want to compete with any "play" on news coming from the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

The secretary revealed that Mr. Truman feels the news coming from San Francisco is of the greatest importance and that he hopes the emphasis can remain on reporting of developments from that conference.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

(International News Service)

EDOUARD HERRIOT

Good news today to French patriots and to supporters everywhere of international cooperation was the Russian communique announcing the liberation of Edouard Herriot from a German prison camp near Berlin.

For Herriot—three premier of France, ardent advocate of "arbitrage, security and disarmament" among nations and consistent foe of collaboration with Hitler's Germany after the fall of France—stands second only to Gen. Charles De Gaulle in the affection and esteem of his countrymen.

Born in 1872 of rugged farmer stock, Herriot entered politics in Lyons in 1904, two years later becoming mayor—a post he held more than 20 years, in addition to high national offices. He served as French premier from 1919 to 1925, and again briefly in 1926 and 1932.

After France fell Herriot, then president of the chamber of deputies in the Vichy government, denounced a decree issued by the traitor Pierre Laval and was placed under arrest. The Germans subsequently reported that he had gone insane and, last September, that he had died—the latter report supported by a French government dispatch.

Edouard Herriot, if three years of imprisonment in concentration camps have not taken too heavy a toll, may again take a leading part in the affairs of a resurgent France. For former U. S. Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles voiced the opinion of many when he once called Herriot "the voice of the true French".

Dr. Perrine Is Heard By Crowd

Noted Research Scientist Gives Address On Development Of Sound Transmission

GIVES PEEP INTO FUTURE

Something like 600 people gathered in the senior high school Wednesday night when Dr. J. Owen Perrine, assistant vice president of the American Telegraph and Telephone company and a research scientist of note, spoke on "Concerning Things Electrical". Dr. Perrine was presented jointly by the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society and the Greater New Castle Association through the courtesy of Paul Baldwin, district manager of the Bell Telephone company.

Dr. Perrine's address was a capsule education in sound transmission. But it was more than just an address, it was an exciting adventure into the mysteries of vibrations, Hertzian waves, oscillators, coils, magnets and quartz crystals. It was the kind of an address that seizes a lethargic imagination and after a teaser of Faraday fundamentals carries it on through the amazing development of sound transmission down to today when throat transmitters are standard equipment for planes and tanks, and finally to the latest development in coaxial cables which will carry 480 different messages simultaneously over a cable about two inches thick.

Sense Of Humor

Dr. Perrine is a scientist with a sense of humor and humility. He seemed to carry out the idea that "an expert is an ordinary fellow a long way from home. He was a long way from home but in our book he was still an expert, but an expert who had the good judgment to couch his address in phrases that an ordinary layman could understand.

Dr. Perrine started with the Faraday principle of coil and magnet which transmits sounds. From there he explained the theory of vibrations and demonstrated what he meant by the different speed of vibrations. Today, he said, the entire contents of the Bible could be transmitted over a modern coaxial cable in one minute by using the 10,000 telegraph channels which are available in the same tube. When the Atlantic cable was laid it was possible to send but two words a minute, which gives you a rough idea.

Audience Enthusiastic

It was an enthusiastic audience made up of engineers and laymen. As between the two there was little difference in the volume of applause for the layman was applauding a man who could translate technical terms and scientific advances into language he could understand. The engineer applauded from a professional admiration of an outstanding scientist. Dr. Perrine's address was one of the finest things heard in New Castle in years.

Prior to the address the senior high school orchestra entertained with a number of orchestral numbers under Joe F. Replogle. In the afternoon Dr. Perrine talked to an assembly in the school. At 6 o'clock he was the honor guest at a dinner in The Castleton.

The chairman of the meeting was Paul F. Dingley, assistant to the vice president of the Pennsylvania Power company and president of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society. He introduced Dr. A. T. Cordray of Westminster college, a fellow alumnus with Dr. Perrine.

Kabakan Capture Is First River Job In Pacific

Flotilla Goes 50 Miles Up Mindanao River To Capture Supply Point

(Editor's Note: International News Service War Correspondent John Cashman, in the following dispatch, describes the first large-scale river operation staged by the U. S. army and navy in the Pacific.)

Cashman was the first reporter to accompany the American forces on such a venture.

By JOHN CASHMAN (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

FORT PEKIT, Mindanao, April 23.—(Delayed)—A frenzied but effective force of gunboats comprising the first U. S. army river expeditionary force today controlled Kabakan, important supply point deep in Mindanao.

The flotilla, accompanied by three navy gunboats, penetrated more than 50 miles along the Mindanao river in a four-day operation to seize the town. The daring and complex operation forced the Japs to flee northward and now enemy troops on this second-most-important island of the Philippines are in danger of being cut in half.

(Editor's Note: Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in announcing fall of Kabakan several days ago, flatly declared that "the enemy's forces on Mindanao are now split in two.")

With control of Kabakan, the Americans can supply their troops over both land and water routes for the anticipated drive on Davao. Army gunboats of the 533rd engineer boat shore regiment were described by Lieut. Col. Robert Amory of Milton, Mass., as "Jerry-built scrounge jobs, so new they are not recognized by the war department."

They are, as a matter of fact, unrecognizable by anybody. These gunboats actually are LCMs on which houses were built for quarters, with various types of guns mounted fore and aft. There are no two alike.

The three navy gunboats under command of Lieut. Robert Alexander of Burlingame, Calif., picked up the army boats at Inogog, 50 miles up-river. The sailors started incredulously at the army craft on which perched pet birds and monkeys as the flotilla steamed through heat so terrific that the crew of a support boat actually tried on egg on top of the wheel-house.

All the craft proceeded to Fort Pitik junction where a large force of Japs had been reported. The river itself was a terrible navigation problem complicated by the fact we had to keep in formation.

As the flotilla hit the bend in the river below Pitik, the boats opened up with everything. After all the shooting was over, a patrol of the 34th infantry reported that the Japs had fled.

Infantrymen then were sent on to Kabakan, where they secured that town.

The three navy gunboats under command of Lieut. Robert Alexander of Burlingame, Calif., picked up

The mass is being given by the King Humbert Society, Raymond Prius as president, announced. The young soldier was a member of the Society. Also attending will be the King Humbert Auxiliary.

Sgt. Rozzi is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Rozzi of Friendship street. He has been in service for two years and served overseas for the past six months.

His two brothers, Patsy and Pete Rozzi, are serving in the South Pacific.

Former Wife Seeks $330 From Wagner, Treasurer Of State

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—(INS)—Mrs. Caroline M. Wagner, former wife of State Treasurer G. Harold Wagner, was today seeking in superior court reversal of a Dalton county common pleas court decision denying her $330, which she claimed was due her from Wagner.

Mrs. Wagner asked the superior court to order a new Dalton county trial. Through her attorney, William T. Connor, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Wagner said her husband signed an agreement on July 10, 1942, to pay her $100 monthly until 1945. She contended this amount was later raised to $110 through oral agreement.

Wagner, she contended, ceased payments in January, 1943. She filed suit later that year and in November, 1943, a jury found for Wagner.

David M. Wallace, attorney for the state treasurer and newly elected auditor-general, contended in argument before superior court Wednesday the oral agreement was made on condition Mrs. Wagner did not, in any way, molest, annoy, hinder, or communicate with him.

Wallace said she breached this contract when she made serious unfounded charges of dishonesty against Wagner and that he ceased payments when learned of this.

With Victory Gardeners.

(By CHARLES G. LINDNER) City Chairman State Council of Defense

Planting time is here and certainly everyone with an available plot is encouraged to "grow your own" and be sure of having fresh, tender vegetables when you want them. Remember home grown vegetables are not rationed.

The national goal for 1945 is again 20 million better gardens. We must break down resistance which has built up on the assumption that the war will soon be over and food will again flow freely, so why garden?

Our late President Roosevelt issued the following statement shortly before his demise: "During the past three years every American who has played a part in the job of growing, conserving, harvesting and processing or distributing our food supply has done a magnificent job."

"As we enter a new year, the demands for our food at home and abroad are so great that it is essential for every man and woman to do everything to help in the huge task of getting the food produced and seeing that it is conserved and shared. Many of our favorite foods are scarce."

"To this end, I ask the people in cities, towns and villages to assist our farmers in every possible way to reach the food goals which have been set for this year."

"I call upon the millions of victory gardeners who have done so much to swell the nation's food supply in these war years to continue their good work."

I ask those people who can spare the time to assist the nation's food processors in the task of preparing the food for our armed services, our civilians and our allies.

"I ask the millions of women who have preserved food at home, so that our armed services could have the fruits and vegetables they need, to carry on until the war is won."

"I ask every American to share our available food by observing the rules of rationing and by cooperating with food merchants in the observance of food price ceilings."

"I know I can count on the American people to respond to these calls to action, so that we can truly continue to say when the war is won that our food has played an important role in the fight for freedom."

Every one who had a garden in 1944 is urged to have a better garden in 1945. A special appeal is made to those who slacked off in garden interest last year to grow one of the 20 million gardens needed during the present year.

Anthracite Miners Take Strike Vote In Pennsylvania

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 26.—(INS)—Approximately 62,000 anthracite miners were expected to participate today in a strike vote in Pennsylvania's hard coal fields under the Smith-Connally bill.

Agents of the National Labor Relations Board, working out of five field offices, have been directed to be in hand at more than 300 polling places near mines and collieries to supervise the balloting.

The election, largest to be held under the act in the anthracite region, was expected to cost about $50,000. The result will be certified to President Truman.

The border of Germany and Switzerland runs through the lake, plied by a number of small steamboat services.

Maize Is Confirmed As Mines Secretary

HARRISBURG, April 26.—(INS)—Richard Maize, of Uniontown, had the unanimous confirmation of the senate today as secretary of mines.

Maize's appointment by Gov. Edward Martin to the $10,000 post July 19 was approved by the upper chamber yesterday following a four-month delay due to minority opposition. He was denied confirmation as acting secretary by two votes in 1943.

Maize was first named to the position by former Gov. Arthur H. James in 1940 and was retained as acting secretary by Governor Martin.

AIR SERVICE COMMAND IN ITALY—Sgt. Don Carmichael, of Detroit spoke in Italian. The Italian jewelry store proprietor spoke, no English. So Carmichael had a tough time explaining that he wanted "Italy 1945" engraved on his brass gold school ring to end a souvenir to his wife in Pasadena.

Then Carmichael wanted to know how long the job would take. The proprietor didn't understand until the sergeant wrote out his question on a slip of paper. He told Carmichael it would be no trouble at all to return the next day.

The following day the sergeant came back. The ring was ready. The old merchant handed it proudly across the counter. Carmichael took one brief look.

In beautiful block letters right across the face of the ring were the words: "HOW LONG."

DROPSY

Dropsy means that there is water somewhere in the body where it ought not to be.

If the ankles and legs are swollen in the evening, it may be dropsy. Press firmly with a finger. A little depression or pit is left. This is called "pitting" on pressure.

Dropsy is not a disease of itself. It is an indication that something is wrong somewhere else.

Common causes of dropsy are heart and kidney troubles.

Dropsy is a danger signal. If the eyes or face seem puffy in the morning, or the ankles are swollen at night, medical advice should be had.

Legislature May Adjourn May 5

HARRISBURG, April 26.—(INS)—Facing a possible adjournment May 3, lawmakers accelerated their work today on the administration budget and final action on the bill.

Plans for next week's session will likely center on through legislation, as members will soon come down to get through the week.

Sen. Roy T. Pass told the House, House Majority Leader Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, of Lehigh, said the lower chamber would continue its session on Monday instead of the usual later and indicated that a vote would be called to complete action on necessary legislation.

Probe Of Meat Black Market To Be Extended

More Witnesses Are Being Summoned In Investigation Under Way In Pittsburgh Court

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—(INS)—The federal grand jury investigation of the "black market" meat scandal in western Pennsylvania will adjourn today until Monday, according to an announcement by Assistant United States District Attorney W. Wendell Stanton.

The adjournment was called for the purpose of assembling testimony and evidence now in the hands of the grand jury in preparation for the issuance of a new list of summons for additional witnesses, Stanton stated. The list will be turned over to United States Marshal J. E. Sloan and summons issued for the witnesses to appear. Among the witnesses expected to be heard by the grand jury before they adjourn was Mike Norbit, Homestead meat dealer and alleged black marketeer. Despite his legal counsel's statement that Norbit would stand on his constitutional rights and refuse to testify, the Homestead merchant said that he was prepared to give testimony if not required to incriminate himself.

Witnesses subpoenaed for yesterday's closed hearings included retail meat dealers from McKeesport. One of them, C. M. Hobbs, a butcher for 30 years, declared that 40 per cent of the people of McKeesport are unable to get meat because of the black market.

Wife Of Draft Dodger Citizen

Mrs. Grover Bergdoll, German-Born, Now Is Citizen Of United States

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—(INS)—Mrs. Grover C. Bergdoll, German-born wife of the No. 1 draft dodger of the first World War, Wednesday became a United States citizen.

Federal Judge George A. Welsh granted the 38-year-old Berta full citizenship rights in U. S. district court at Philadelphia. Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation testified they found nothing to warrant refusal of her application.

"Is there anything," Judge Welsh asked her, "in the ideologies of the United States or our form of government that is repugnant to your idea of life?"

"There is not," she replied. "I am happy here and I am happy to have my children here."

Berta was married to Bergdoll in Russia in 1926, while he was a fugitive from this country. She came to the United States in 1939 and applied for her first papers the same year. The Bergdolls, who have seven children, now reside on a farm near West Chester, Pa.

Independence Of Philippines May Come Before 1946

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—Sen. Millard P. Tydings (D) Md., senate insular affairs committee chairman, after a conference with President Truman Wednesday said he had discussed the possibility of speeding up Philippine independence before July 4, 1946.

Tydings said he and Mr. Truman had discussed the whole subject of Philippine independence and that the president hoped that independence could be granted the islands prior to the time set by congress.

He said that it was the president's desire that this step be taken "as soon as conditions permit."

Tydings was reminded that a short while before his death, the late President Roosevelt had told President Osma of the Philippines that he wanted to grant independence to the islands as soon as organized resistance was ended—possibly this fall. Tydings was asked if this was President Truman's intention also, and he answered: "That is a possibility."

Chandler Pleased Over Appointment As Baseball Czar

New High Commissioner Played Ball When Young Man, Loves Game

PLEDGES SELF TO STRICT ADHERENCE

By BILL ZIMMERMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—Sen. Albert B. Chandler (D-Ky.), newly elected high commissioner of baseball, made it clear Wednesday that he will rule the game with a free hand as did his predecessor, the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

"They know I wouldn't take the job unless I can have a free hand," Chandler told reporters and well-wishers crowded into his hotel suite.

"Baseball always has been an honest game and must be kept so. Every body who follows sports knows what a great job the late Judge Landis did throughout his tenure of office. My one big aim is to keep it that way."

Will Leave Senate
The big, jovial Kentuckian who quit the field of sports to enter politics, said he will resign from the senate within 30 to 60 days and take over his new duties.

A former governor of Kentucky and a senator since the death of Sen. Mills M. Logan, Chandler is as happy about his new post as his nickname implies.

"I love baseball. I always have and it's one job I've always wanted," he said.

Asked about his plans for the future, Chandler replied he could not make any commitments until he had an opportunity to talk to officials of the American and National leagues.

"Until then I'm just going to bide my time and get my affairs in the Senate straightened out."

Played Lot Of Baseball
Chandler was a catcher during his high school days at Corydon, Ky., but turned to pitching and the outfield when he entered Transylvania college at Lexington.

In 1920, Chandler joined Grafton, N. D., in the Red River Valley league, winning 12 games and losing one. Two years later he joined organized baseball with Lexington in the Blue Grass league.

Chandler was also a star basketball and football player and later coached in both activities.

He turned to politics in 1929 when he was elected to the state Senate and worked his way up to governor. He was appointed to the U. S. Senate in 1939.

Chandler said his family was as thrilled over his appointment as he was when he telephoned them in Versailles, Ky.

"You should have heard them shout," he said. "My 11-year-old son, Ben, asked if it meant we could go to a lot of ball games."

"And I said, 'Boy, it sure does!'"

HARD TO FIGURE
Attorney Paul Campbell, Penn State's wartime mat coach, is wrestling with figures nowadays. He's chief clerk of his company at Sampson Naval Training Station.

PLAYERS DON'T KICK
Soccer is virtually a year-round sport at Penn State, where Coach Bill Jeffrey already is busy grooming his candidates for the 1945 fall schedule.

Cubs Whitewash Cincinnati 4 To 0

Claude Passeau, Veteran, Turns In Five-Hitter Even With Sore Elbow

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, April 26.—(INS)—The Chicago Cubs' chance of putting up a determined fight for this year's National League pennant took a big jump today with the return to form of Claude Passeau, a 15-game winner for the Bruins last season. Passeau, who has been around the big leagues a long time, came a cropper during the training season when his pitching elbow went lame. Yesterday he showed that he has regained his full effectiveness by holding Cincinnati to five scattered singles and blanking the Reds 4 to 0.

No Cincinnati player reached third base and only three got as far as second.

Passeau Hits Homer
Passeau, always a hitter of sorts, also walloped a home run and drove in another tally with a single, Stan Hack knocked in the other two runs.

The losing pitcher was the veteran Bucky Walters, a 23-game winner for the Reds last season but unlucky so far this year.

The victory placed the Cubs only half a game behind the league-leading New York Giants, who were idle yesterday along with all remaining big league clubs on a very rainy Wednesday. Manager Charley Grimm of the Bruins now has his pitching staff going strong with four straight victories. The rejuvenated Paul Derringer has won twice, and Bob Chipman, who turned in 12 victories last year, held Pittsburgh to three hits last Sunday.

Of the other club hurlers who have worked this season, Ray Prim and Hy Vandenberg have shown promise. If another member of the sore-arm squad, Ed Haney, can be whipped into shape, Grimm's pitchers will cause plenty of trouble for rival clubs.

Ten More Names In Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK, April 26.—(INS)—Names of ten old-time baseball stars were added today to the membership rolls of the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

An old-timers' committee which included leading baseball figures and baseball writers, selected this latest group to join the shrine. The list now includes a total of 38 names. The latest selections follow:

Ed Deleahanty, slugger to the old Phillies; Dan Brouthers, first baseman and great hitter with several big league teams; the late Roger Bresnahan, who caught Pitcher Christy Mathewson with the New York Giants; Jimmy Collins, premier Red Sox third baseman; Hugh Duffy, Boston National's star who in 1894 established an all-time batting record of .438 and who now is a coach and scout with the Boston Red Sox; the late Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn manager who once caught for the Baltimore Orioles; Fred Clarke, star outfielder and manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Mike (King) Kelly, of the Chicago Cubs; Jimmy O'Rourke, who caught for several clubs; and Hughie Jennings, Baltimore shortstop who later became famous as the grass-chewing manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Track Stars To Go To Ambridge

Track Coach Bill Klee of Senior High is busy today selecting a squad of star high trackmen to take to the annual Ambridge relay carnival Saturday, April 28.

New Castle High, with several potential champions this year, expects to make a very creditable showing at the valley track Saturday.

The scheduled dual meet with Meadville High yesterday at the stadium was called off on account of rain and will be staged at the stadium Thursday, May 2, Gardner announced.

Sportsmen Announce List Of Winners

Samuel M. Frank, chairman of the prize committee, and Lewis A. Pearsall, master-of-ceremonies at the recent Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association banquet at the Cathedral, today made public a list of the winners of prizes.

The following were fortunate in taking home fine gifts and prizes: Mrs. Margaret S. Clark, William Koonce, Henry Gutley, W. G. Strouse of Ellwood City, E. F. Goshorn, Mrs. James E. Beil, Mrs. W. R. Clement, P. H. Byers, Robert L. Arbaster, J. H. West, W. J. Morris, Harry Brinton, Mrs. Ronald L. Mielke, Tech-Sgt. John M. Bales, J. W. Pattison, Ralph H. Ramsey, Frank S. Hoyt, Gus Sanfilippo, Alex M. Gardner, Mrs. Joseph Crable, George Sullman, P. H. Byers, Donald Bacon, B. H. Craig, Anna Mae Schick, W. Henry Rodgers.

A considerable number of the prizes were donated to the sportsmen through local merchants, helping to make the banquet a big success.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

NINE LIVES, TWO FACES

There are two schools of thought relative to the cat question and they're about as sharply opposed as the immovable object and unmovable force. Proponents of the house cat rally to the defense of their pets in direct ratio to the intensity of the attacks. I'm not so egotistical as to try to settle the controversy here.

He Dislikes Felines
I'm genetically on the side of the opposition, having disliked cats from babyhood and shot a few of em while on hunting trips by way of saving fledgling quail and young rabbits. But I've become converted to the extent that now I'll admit there are two sides to the question and that the cat owns his at least one or two points in his favor.

The average hunter pictures the "wild" house cat, or tame one either for that matter, as sneaking through the grass or woodlands intent on pouncing upon a juvenile pheasant or immature grouse. The owner visualizes no such creature. If the farmer's cat is roaming the meadow it is in search of destructive field mice, he opines, and 100 of these mice, he'll inform you, will eat half a ton of hay per acre per year.

Out For A Stroll
I don't know what I'd do without a couple of cats around my granary. One farmer told me the other day. "The mice would eat me out of house and home. As it is I hardly ever see one about the place but I guess there are enough left to keep the cats busy. They don't have any time to chase song birds or game birds. I've seen them once or twice carrying sparrows, but no other birds." Yet not an hour later I saw one of these self-same pets stalking warily through the long grass along a fence the farm's pasture, so intent on his trailing that he failed to notice me. I wonder if he had a mouse in mind, or maybe a pheasant dinner.

Some Are Two-Faced
During the past winter I was forced, because of the housing shortage, to live in a city apartment, and with the advent of sub-zero weather, the place became infested with mice. Other measures failing I borrowed a cat from the neighborhood drugist. The cat caught only one mouse before I returned it to the owner, but I haven't seen a mouse about the place since, nor a sign of one. Maybe that's an argument in favor of the cat.

I suppose that in future, if I'm absolutely certain the cat I see in the field is a "wild" one, I'll discourage it from further hunting, but I'll probably spare the purely domesticated species. Trouble is to tell em apart. The cat is said to have nine lives; my experience indicates that some of them are two-faced also. Household pets one moment, song and game bird hunters the next.

Penn Relays To Start On Friday

Gunder Hagg, Star Swedish Miler, Will Be Special Guest, Will Race Saturday

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
(International News Service Sports Writer)
PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—The star-spangled 51st annual Penn Relays gets under way here tomorrow for a two-day stand, with Gunder Hagg, the world's fastest human, reported in "tip-top" condition for his one and only outdoor appearance during his present trip to the United States.

The lanky Swedish flash was expected to arrive in Philadelphia some time today for a preliminary workout before facing a battery of 11 "opponents" in the mile handicap race scheduled for Saturday afternoon. The word "opponents" is used advisedly, for with but one exception—Donald O'Leary of the U. S. Coast Guard station at Atlantic City—all of Hagg's competitors will be given handicaps ranging from 60 to 180 yards.

Lidman in Shape
The Hagg, however, may not make it to the City of Brotherly Love until Friday or early Saturday. Penn Relay officials pointed out because he expects to sail for his homeland Saturday night and must remain in New York until he receives his visa.

His fellow countryman, Hurdle Champion Haskan Lidman, reported he had talked via telephone with Gunder at Greenwich, Conn., and that Hagg said he was in "tip-top" form and expected to turn in the best performance of his trip.

Lidman, who doubles as sports editor for a Swedish newspaper, was the first of the "names" to arrive on the scene. He promptly held a workout on the field and declared both himself and the track "in the pink."

Lockleys Seek Softball Title

According to an announcement made today by Manager Joseph McCaskey, the Lockley Machine softball team, will make a determined bid for the Industrial softball league championship here this summer.

The Lockleys will start working out next Monday night at Dean Park at 6 o'clock and will hold rehearsals each night that the weather permits. The Lockleys are assembling a team of veterans and will be in the thick of the battle all the way with a hint of several surprise stars in the lineup.

Church Bowlers Banquet Tonight

Approximately 60 men, members of the Church Duckpin league, will gather at 7:30 o'clock tonight at a Wilmington road cafe for the annual banquet and election of new officers. The league completed another successful season last Thursday.

The league will honor the championship First U. P. team. The speaking program to follow the serving of the dinner will be short. An evening of fun is in store for the members of the league.

A SUMMER draws nigh baseball fills the air. Frinstance, Pitcher Mundo, Ellwood City, telephone Wednesday that city intends to make a last team and would be willing to join either a New Castle City or a Lawrence County loop. The hurler advanced the idea that Wampum might also have a team. A few nights ago Jimmy Pagley of Edinburg announced that town wanted a franchise in a league. Johnny Crespy of the Shenango Pottery has asserted the Plate-Makers will have a team. Ralph Fundoots of West Pittsburg answered "Yes" when asked as to whether West Pittsburg was interested in taking up where it left off in 1944. Fitz Roderbaugh of the Loyal Moose was definite in his statement as to where the "Big Horns" would land on did say: "We'll play ball either as a league team or independent." Frank Ruozzo and Joe Zampelli representatives of the P. R. R. last season predicted the Seventh ward would have a team, so indications are there'll be either a resumption of the City League or re-birth of the Lawrence County circuit which closed out when war began.

Radioman 2-c Joe Audino who has been in the Pacific for a long time is home on a furlough. He is in the Coast Guard. Audino was one of New Castle's high school stars a few years back. Carpenter's Mate 3-c Steve Kakos, a Seabee, who also has been with the Coast Guard in the Pacific and who like Audino has been visiting his mother will soon "hoist anchor" again in the Asiat-Pacific theater. Ray Carlson, former Marquette U. grader, moves last when to move. For instance, the former end and halfback, in a short space of two weeks, was in Scotland, England, Belgium, Germany and a hospital. He sustained wounds while fighting with the infantry.

One of the brightest items unfurled today was an announcement by Harry Helmick, secretary Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association that the state fish commission had agreed to stock pan fish early in May in Cascade Park lake for servicemen hospitalized at Deshon Annex. The commission, represented by Charlie French, who not only knows his fish but also knows the area, agreed to this in a telegram to Fish Protector Clint White and Secretary Helmick. It is likely that city council will make the lake a restricted place for hospitalized servicemen—and no one will object to this. The servicemen may receive a free fishing license by application at the county treasurer's office. As far back as 10 years ago the writer of Here & There advocated the stocking of fish in Cascade Park lake. Finally, some carp were put in but few want to fish for carp. Now that the commission has agreed to stock blue gills, catfish and "Pymatuning bass" the boys at Deshon, in May, will have some place for that form of recreation. The Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association, Protector White and Charlie French deserves a pat on the back.

Met up with a couple of sojers recently—Sarges Bill Reap, Buck Miller and Cap Blintrim. Notte Dame will win only three times next fall on their home field. The Irish only play three games there. Tell a woman "you're growing fat" and her eyes will shoot daggers keen enough to kill but tell her "my dear, you've become pleasingly plump" and she'll serve you caked butter. Men who laughed because women couldn't buy girdles with rubber now are kicking because they cannot buy socks with rubberized tops. Report says Dan Sweeney's up and around after a year, due to a broken ankle. Sully the Barber has razed as many stubbles as there are hairs in a pot. Possibly the appointment of a commissioner of baseball will hoist the morale of a 200 batter to 400.

Industry Should Be Decentralized Says Noted Author-Farmer

Large Urban Population Is Seat Of Trouble; Asks Encouragement For Farming

DETROIT, Mich., April 26.—(INS)—Decentralization of industry and a sounder and more profitable agriculture were advocated by Louis Bromfield of Lucas, O., Pulitzer prize-winning novelist, as a cure for the evils caused by great industrial concentrations.

Bromfield, owner and operator of an 1100-acre farm, spoke before a recent meeting called as a result of the revived interest in agriculture in the world's greatest industrial city, where Roger M. Kyes, president of Harry Ferguson, Inc., and the board of commerce are spearheading a drive to arouse the interest of businessmen in the farmers' problems.

"The real disease," he declared, "lies in the great industrial concentrations and the abnormal conditions which breed not only the racketeering and vice, but the radical and foreign political ideas which threaten our American tradition and institutions. You will not find the enemies of our American beliefs in the rural areas and the small towns, but only in the great urban concentrations which throughout history has been the index of the decline of nations."

Bromfield then urged breaking up of huge industries into smaller units located in rural areas. Workers who spend 40 hours a week at their factory jobs, he said, could utilize the remainder of their time in small farm operations. By use of light, modern farm machinery designed for efficiency, and by improved methods, such workers could help to produce the food needed to assure world peace.

"It is probable that food or the lack of food will determine the future course of the world as much or more than all the conferences at Bretton Woods, at Dumbarton Oaks and at Hot Springs," he said. "It will determine to a large degree the feeling between this country and many nations in the world."

"Indeed, it has already done so in France and Belgium and Italy, and it has caused friction in our relations with Great Britain, Canada and Australia. Food, and the question of who shall deliver it has become a source of discord in Poland between ourselves and Russia. Food shortages can turn the rank and file of the American people to bitter isolationism."

"Food, its abundance, or its scarcity, can make or destroy the best plans for world peace and order."

Pfc. R. Hardesty Wounded In Action

Local Infantryman Wounded In Battle Of Germany, On April 8

Pfc. Ray Hardesty, 29-years-of-age, husband of Mrs. Nellie Hardesty, 444 Neshannock avenue, was wounded in action in Germany, on April 8, according to a telegram received by his wife.

Pfc. Hardesty, a member of the Seventh Infantry, is now convalescing in a hospital in Germany. He has been in service since August 30, 1944, and overseas since January.

His wife received a letter from him, and he stated that he is coming along fine.

His brothers, Pfc. Paul Hardesty is in the Philippines, and Hardesty, U.S. Navy, is in the Pacific.

Settlement and Struggles in Canaan

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

The angel appearing to Gideon.

"Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest."—Genesis 28:15.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for April 29 is Joshua 1:23-24; Judges 1:1-3; 7:6-7; 21:25; Ruth 1:12-23; the Memory Verse being Gen. 28:15, "Behold, I am here with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest.")

When Moses died, the Lord appointed Joshua to succeed him. He was a warrior and statesman. The Lord told him to cross over Jordan and take possession of the land He had promised them.

Joshua first sent two men across to the city of Jericho to spy out the situation. These were befriended by a woman named Rahab, who hid them when they tried to escape back to their people. They learned that the fame of their people had spread and the people of Jericho were afraid of them.

The crossing of the river was made with ceremony and the walls of Jericho "came tumbling down" at the sound of the trumpets and shouts of the Israelites. They were not always victorious, however. When Achan sinned they were defeated, but when they had punished him, they conquered.

In Joshua 9-11, Judges 1, we have the account of the Gibeonites' deceit and submission to the Israelites, then the great battle of Gibeon, with Joshua making the sun and moon to stand still, and the extermination of the Canaanites and slaughter of the five kings. Horses and chariots were mentioned for the first time in this account.

Slaughter

The slaughter of the inhabitants in Palestine was an important part of the Israelite history, and had an enormous effect on their later history. Then came the settlement of the tribes of Israel in the land allotted to them. The tribes of Reuben and Gad and the half tribe of Manasse were settled, and the head of the list of the remaining tribes.

Judah was the tribe from which King David came, and later Christ. The Levites were not given a separate portion of Palestine, but were assigned to four cities in each of the 12 tribes. In chapter 14 is also told the story of Caleb, who testified that he had always done the will of God and should be allowed to conquer the hill of Hebron. He was blessed by Joshua and permitted to take it. After "the land had rest from war."

The last days of Joshua are recorded. He was an old man—110 years old, according to records. His life was courageous and holy. His great anxiety always was that the people should obey the Lord and not intermarry with the idolatrous nations among whom they lived. As long as they kept God's will they were victorious, but when they backslid their enemies triumphed over them.

Joshua's Influence
These words from the book of Joshua show the influence of Joshua over his people: "Now when Joshua went away, the children of Israel went every man to his inheritance to possess Jehovah all the days of the elders that outlived Joshua, who had seen all the great work of Jehovah that He had wrought for Israel."

In the book of Judges we have a sad story of Israel forgetting its loyalty to the Lord and worshipping Baal, intermarrying with the idolatrous nations. We also have the story of Deborah, the judge and prophetess, and how she led her people to triumph over Sisera, captain of a host that had 900 iron chariots. Her song of triumph after this defeat is one of the finest in literature.

Gideon was one of the minor judges of Israel, during the Midianite oppression of the people of Israel. He was truly a man of God and one day an angel of the Lord appeared to him as he was beating out wheat in the winneps to hide it from the Midianites who would have raided it. Gideon asked why, if the Lord favored Israel, were they so oppressed? He seemed to have forgotten the sins of his people. The dramatic conquest of the Canaanites under Gideon's leadership should be read, as we have no space for it here. Previous to this triumph he had broken the statue of Baal and replaced it with an altar to God.

The history of Judges grows darker and darker toward the end, and the book ends on this dismal note: "In those days there was no king of Israel; every man did that which was right in his own eyes." But a man was eventually raised up, even Samuel.

Of the romance of the Book of Ruth the teacher should tell briefly. It is an story of the love of two women and the courtship and marriage of Ruth by Boaz.

CANCER FUND DRIVE TO END ON APRIL 30

Personal solicitation in the cancer control campaign is being stressed for the next five days and by the night of April 30 the closing date of the campaign it is anticipated that New Castle will have a quota filled. The campaign has the active endorsement of the Lawrence County Medical Society.

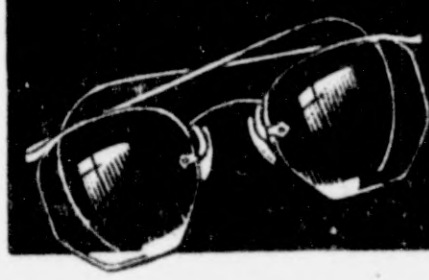

Over the entire country similar campaigns are being held, the national goal being five million dollars to be used in an educational campaign and in research in an effort to cut down the alarming death toll from cancer.

Out of every dollar collected for the campaign in New Castle, 50 cents remains here to be used in local aid to cancer sufferers, 25 cents goes to the state headquarters and 25 cents to the national headquarters for research and education.

With the few remaining days in the campaign it is possible that many persons will be missed by the solicitors. It is urged that checks be sent in to the campaign headquarters, The Greater New Castle Association in The Castleton hotel or to the treasurer of the campaign, Hubert Sadler of the Union Trust company.

House Leaders Favor Senate Move

Against Sending Any 18 Year Olds Into Battle Without Six Months' Training

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—House leaders indicated Wednesday that they will recommend adoption of a senate amendment to the selective service extension act barring the use of 18-year-olds in combat until they have had six months' training.

Rep. May D. Ky, chairman of the house military committee, said he was inclined to go along with the amendment, while house minority leader Martin of Massachusetts, said he favored its adoption.

In its first reversal of war department military policy since the war began, the senate adopted the amendment to the draft extension bill by a two to one vote. It would become effective on May 15, when the draft act is extended for another year.

The senate action was regarded by members as highly significant in view of the strong opposition of the war department to the amendment. It was accepted as an assertion of congressional authority in matters dealing with welfare of service men.

While Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, said he will prohibit sending 18-year-olds overseas as soon as the situation permits he declared the amendment might interfere with the present military program of keeping pressure against the enemy at all times.

The senate action was taken, some members said, in the hope that organized resistance in Germany will have collapsed by May 15.

STATE SENATE PASSES INCREASE IN BLIND PENSION

HARRISBURG, April 26.—(INS)—The house received today a senate approved measure proposing blind pensions be increased from $30 to $40 a month.

The measure, introduced by Sen. John G. Snowden (R) Lycoming, was passed by the upper chamber yesterday after the department of public assistance failed to inaugurate a blind relief system.
